

Career Paths

Garth Bardsley
(born 1965)

Ben Parry
(born 1965)

With a strong groove ♩ = 134

mf

I should 5

like, one day, - to be suc - cess - ful, I should like, one day, - to be rich, But to a -

9

-void the jour - ney be - ing stress - ful, I am told by some you got - ta find your

Music © 2012 by Peters Edition Limited, London

Text © 2012 by Garth Bardsley

All rights reserved. Reprinted by permission of Peters Edition Limited, London.

AB 3916

12

niche.* But which road should I choose at this junct - ure To make sure that my ta-lents I un - leash? I should hate at this point, my dreams, to 18

15

punc - ture, So it is clear to me that one must find one's niche.

21

I could be a doc-tor or a sur-geon or per -

mf

* Pronounced 'nitch'
  Pronounced 'neesh'

24

- haps a ra - di - o - lo - gist The mo - ney's good but then the hours are bad... A

27

den - tist might be fun or p'raps an e - pi - de - mi - o - lo - gist Which might at least an - noy my mum and dad... Or per - haps the world of sci - ence is the place where I should con - cen - trate Like

30

33

Fa - ra - day or E - di - son or Freud, But then some sci - en - ti - fic ap - ti - tude I guess I'd have to de-mon-strate Of which, I have to say, I am de - void.

36

39

I should like, one day, to be suc-cess-ful, I should like, one day, to find my

43

niche, 'Twould be ea-sier if the list of jobs was less full And I had some i - dea of where, my voice, to pitch, But I don't, and my thoughts are all in tat-ters, How can I know which darned ca-reer, for me, is meant? But when 52

46

49

push comes to shove, I know what mat - ters Is find the niche that makes me hap - py,

55

To find the niche that makes me hap - py and con -

58

senza rit.

- tent.